

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall entertained Wednesday evening at an enchilada supper and dance at the Capitola for the younger Smart Set. The handsome Kelly home needed no other adornment than its own elegant furnishings and brilliant and beautiful lighting. After the service, the floors were cleared for dancing. The following guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Hall: Mr. and Mrs. Williams Butherford, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Field, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schoepf, Mrs. Frank Thurmond, Miss Mary Mahoney, Theresa Clark, Katherine Wamel, Esther Bolich, Mary Lou and Helen Swope, Mrs. Alle Stecker, Miss Katherine Shepard, and Messrs. Jarvis Williams, Loyal Maple, Dr. Earl M. Brady, Ben Peyton, Amos W. Pollard, Walter Clark, Lieut. Robt. L. Thornton and Lieut. Wm. Berl, Jr., both of Wilmington, Del., Lieuts. Muse of Ark., and Ramsey of Delaware.

Dr. M. J. Moran Dinner Host
Dr. M. J. Moran was host at an elaborate dinner at the Harvey House Tuesday, complimentary to Lieut. C. R. Jeffers and Lieut. P. A. Chesser of the Delaware Infantry. The delicious menu was faultlessly carried out in its clever arrangement, the compilation of Dr. Moran, it read as follows:
Annelgesia Cocktail, Bullion a la X-Ray, Celery de la Complexion, Fish a la Jawbone, Crowned Duck, Bridged Steak, Ionized Potatoes, Phosphoric Burgundy, Synthetic Salad, Sherbert for Jawbone Cooler, Assorted Hard-Back, Robber Dan Cheese, Coffee-Black Mixture of Gherkin.

Dr. Moran's guests besides the honorees of the evening, Lieut. Jeffers and Chesser, were Dr. J. A. Hullin and Dr. Earl M. Brady, with Mrs. M. J. Moran, Miss Mary Mahoney, Miss Theresa Clark, Miss Esthe Bolich, Misses Mary Lou and Helen Swope, Miss Katherine Wamel. After the dinner there was dancing at the Moran residence on West Pine St. It was one of the most elegant affairs of the promising social season.

Mrs. Frank Thurmond Entertains
Mrs. Frank Thurmond entertained Wednesday at bridge at the Capitola. Mrs. J. A. Mahoney, Miss Mahoney, Miss Theresa Clark, Mrs. M. B. Amest Mrs. Sam Watkins, Mrs. Alle Stecker and Mrs. Henry Hall. Enchiladas were served at the conclusion of the game and a delightful afternoon enjoyed.

Golden Gossips Meet With Mrs. Holt
The Golden Gossips met Tuesday with Mrs. W. E. Holt and passed a pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Holt charmingly assisted by Misses Lucille and Helen Holt, served a delicious collation. Mrs. George Shepard was the only guest of the afternoon. The Golden Gossips meet Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 5, with Mrs. C. O. Donaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Tucker Entertain
Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Tucker entertained most delightfully in honor of their brother, Mayor Nordhaus, Saturday evening. It was an informal gathering but none the less enjoyed. A delicious supper was served and dancing and cards enjoyed until a late hour.

Ranch Party
Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Todhunter were hosts Sunday last at their ranch to many prominent members of the Deming Smart Set. The guests met in the early morning at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Todhunter and motored out to the ranch. There were several cars in the large party and upon their arrival a delightful a la fresco luncheon was served under the trees. Mr. and Mrs. Todhunter were indefatigable in their efforts to entertain the visitors and after a delightful day, the party returned to Deming in the late afternoon.

General Adams Entertains
Brig. General Adams entertained Tuesday at the Capitola at a dinner complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lane. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur

Washout on the Santa Fe
There was a heavy washout on the Santa Fe, Saturday night, between Albuquerque and San Marcel. The washout extended over a distance of at least ten miles, and a mile of track including two bridges was put out of commission.

A large repair gang was put to work at once, so as not to delay the traffic long.

Fatal Wreck on the Santa Fe
About four o'clock Saturday morning, as a freight train was moving toward Rincon, it encountered a defective track, because of floods, just beyond the river bed. The engine turned over on its side and six or seven freight cars were turned over in the wreck. Escaping steam inflicted terrible injury upon the engineer, Thos. R. Smith, and quite seriously injured the fireman, Frederick H. Clark. Dr. P. M. Steed, railroad physician was summoned and took both men to the Ladies' Hospital, where the unfortunate engineer passed away the following day. The fireman will recover.

The deceased was a great favorite in railroad circles, and his untimely death is a source of great sorrow among his associates.

Fine County Road Construction
Engineer Almy has the north road completed and there is no discounting the fact that it is one of the best roads in this country.

Early Monday morning, Mr. Almy commenced work on the Deming-Columbus bridge, and has a force of fifteen men busily engaged in making the cement foundation which he will have completed in course of a very few days. This will give the El Paso Bridge Co., an opportunity to have the bridge completed within the time limit, Sept. 12th, providing they can secure a shipment of material before that time.

A part of Mr. Almy's crew are engaged in road construction and it will not be long before the Deming-Columbus road will be in first-class shape.

W. S. Clark as September Morn
Can you imagine W. S. Clark, the fat and good natured agent of the Santa Fe, posing as "September Morn"? Well, that is just about what he did Tuesday night, as he was driving home from Cook's Peak with Chris Rathel. The boys attempted to run Rathel's Ford across a newly formed lake, with the result that the water was deeper than they anticipated, and there is no provision in the Ford construction to have it operate as a boat. When the engine went dead, there was nothing to do but get out and turn the crank. And Clark didn't propose to spoil his good clothes, so he assumed the September Morn attitude and got out in the miniature lake to crank the machine. Chris sat at the wheel and everything came out like the end of a moving picture play, only movies of this kind are scarcely ever filmed.

When W. S. came home, Mrs. Clark remarked that his clothes looked as if they had been pumpled-dashed, which fact came from his leaving them lying in the rear part of the car during his period of artistic posing.

Like the ending of a story, everything came out just perfectly lovely.
